

Ella Caudill

Module 4

For my design I looked for ideas and information from the pages of different MSU PW alum. I wanted to see what the portfolios of people who were in my shoes look like and I wanted to draw my choices from the aspects of their profiles that I liked best. I wanted my portfolio to be easily navigated and focused on the rationale of the design rather than being fancy. I liked the idea of having the header state who and what the site was about so I decided to leave room for the header I will create. I think having the main navigation be right below that makes sense because people's attention will fall to that next and notice where the content is right away. I chose to have my page tabs be Projects, Skills, Resume and About Me because those are all things employers want to see when they are considering you as a potential employee.